

Precious Capital Global Mining & Metals Fund

The Precious Capital Global Mining & Metals Fund is a Swiss securities fund, investing globally in mining companies. The fund is focusing on gold mining companies with diversified operations. As the investments are mainly held in foreign currencies the fund may hedge foreign currency risk. The fund abstains from the publication of the performance of a benchmark. The fund is managed by a new management team since December 2008 including some of the co-founders.

Review and commentary

Gold and silver mining stocks as measured by the XAU Index (in CHF) lost 5.1% in October while the fund lost 2.0%. Year-to-date the fund gained 40.1%, comparing favourably to the 22.7% appreciation of the XAU Index (in CHF). As we noted earlier in the summer, we were anticipating a seasonal correction in the gold mining shares due to the growing disparity between rising asset prices and the continuing credit contraction, which has many similarities to the beginning of the credit disaster in May 2007. Commodity and equity markets reacted with enthusiasm on the 3.5% growth of Q3 US GDP, which however is more the result of artificial stimulus arithmetics rather than real economic progress. In the current environment characterised by tremendous economic uncertainty, it can be useful to draw parallels to periods following past economic manias. On September 13, 1930, the US Secretary of Labour, James J. Davis, declared "We are on the upswing". This was in that fateful year after the market had a 50% retracement. 79 years later, on September 15, Ben Bernanke stated "The recession is very likely over". This time, the Dow accomplished a 45% retracement. As the economy continues to contract, we expect a further rising real gold price which will enhance the profitability of gold mining companies. Consequently, next year could be a magnificent market for the whole gold sector.
